EDITORIAL

There is a tendency to-day to belittle the efforts of small voluntary societies. We have even heard in Bookham the critics of our Community Association—small, it is true, in numbers, but large in heart and purpose—the critics who say that our puny efforts to organize ourselves for recreation and the healthy enjoyment of leisure are not worth pursuing: to-day organization must be on a bigger scale.

Yet it is in the field of voluntary effort that our strength as a nation lies. Take, for example, the case of the Parents' and Teachers' Association of the Stoneleigh East County Primary School. The headmaster of the school is keen to develop the pupils' dramatic talents. But the school has no stage—or at least it hadn't until recently. In the County Education Estimates for 1951-52 a sum of £25 was provided towards the cost of a stage, but this sum proved totally insufficient. After discussion it was agreed that the Education Committee would provide materials up to the value of £25 and the teachers and parents would provide labour, any extra cost being met out of school funds.

The splendid result is that the stage is now nearly complete, and the school funds, in addition to meeting extra costs, are providing curtains for the stage and hall, the total cost being about £150. The school funds needed have been raised partly from concerts but mainly from salvage of waste paper, vast quantities of which have been collected by the children and sold at prices which have ranged from £22 10s. down to £14 per ton. (Bookham Community Association is adopting the same method, see article on page 10.)

We all regret the present vast expenditure on rearmament, making necessary certain cuts in the social services, and curtailing expenditure on new schools. The one redeeming feature is, however, that it has made us face up to our responsibilities as parents and citizens. Throughout the country people are realizing that they have a part to play in maintaining the standard of efficiency of the schools; public education is not solely the concern of the State. Though in a recent House of Commons debate one member criticized jumble-sale methods of raising funds for school equipment as being "a humiliation of the national education scheme", another commended the efforts of the parent-teacher associations for having during the last five or six years "done magnificent work in helping schools out of difficulties".

It is well to remember that public education in this country owes its origin to voluntary effort. The first moves were made in 1808 when Lancaster (a Quaker), and in 1809 when Bell (an Anglican), formed their respective voluntary societies for organizing primary education. By 1830 the National Society, of which Bell was the founder, had opened some 13,000 schools, attended by over 400,000 children. And until that year, when the Whig government voted £20,000 to help these voluntary societies, every penny of their funds was raised by public subscription.

ANNUAL MEETING OF TABLE TENNIS CLUB

The A.G.M. of the Bookham Table Tennis Club was held at the Old Barn Hall on the 10th April, when the following officers were elected: President, Mr. J. Stonehill; Vice-Presidents, Dr. N. E. Waterfield, O.B.E., and Mr. S. E. D. Fortescue; Committee Chairman, Miss M. Austin; Match Secretary, Mr. R. Stracey; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. B. Thick. A successful season was reported, during which the annual tournament had been run as usual in December. The men's singles was won again by J. Coomber (runner-up R. Brooks) and the ladies' singles again by Miss M. Austin (runner-up Miss E. Benn). The consolation prize was awarded to S. Styles.

In the finals of the Leatherhead, Epsom and District League the Club was well represented by Miss M. Austin, who won the ladies' singles; J. Stimpson, who beat T. Reed in the finals of the junior singles; and J. Austin and R. Stracey, who reached the finals of the men's doubles.

Three teams were entered in the Leatherhead, Epsom and District League—two in the first division and one in the third. The first team finished fifth, the second team first, and the third team took fourth place; the first team won 14, lost 7; the second team won 19, lost 2; and the third team won 13, lost 7.

A successful attempt was made to raise funds for a new table, and a Jaques tournament table was eventually obtained in time for the opening of the season.

OBITUARY Marshall J. Kennard

Mr. Kennard was born at Brenchley, Kent, in 1878, and came to Bookham in 1939. Although a retired member of the Metropolitan Police Force, he always carried the mark of a countryman. He will be greatly missed by many in Bookham, where his kindly and generous nature was well known. He was an enthusiastic gardener, being a member of the Committee of the local Garden Society. A devoted churchman, he attended regularly at St. Nicolas, where he had been a sidesman for a number of years.

We knew him best perhaps for his keen support of the Community Association, particularly in connection with the building of the open-air stage at Polesden Lacey last year, where his actual physical work among the other volunteers was equal to that of men far younger than himself. His untiring help during and after the performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was an example to all. He was a founder member of the "Over 60's Club" and served on its committee. Our sincerest sympathies are extended to his widow and family.

E.E.O.

Plans for the coming year include a jumble sale to raise funds, at the Old Barn Hall on Saturday, 28th June, 1952. The age limit has been lowered to 9 years.

Applications for membership should be addressed to Miss E. Benn, Fetcham Holt, Lower Road, Fetcham.

PROGRESS OF BOOKHAM GROVE HOUSING ESTATE

By JOHN L. DAVIES*

On all housing estates completed since the war the Council has, by careful programming and the indispensable co-operation of the gas, electricity and water authorities, been able to proceed rapidly and steadily with the site preparation works for housing.

The same procedure was adopted in the case of Bookham Grove, but despite every endeavour by all authorities concerned, the shortage of supplies of cast iron and other materials for the construction of gas and water mains has caused considerable delay in the preparation of the site. As a result, it has not been possible to commence building at the north end of the estate where originally planned; and a hasty revision of the proposals, incorporating development on and near the Dorking Road frontage, had to be put in hand two years before it was anticipated. In order to take full advantage of the existing road frontage, the proposed open space (see page 5 of the September, 1951, issue of the Bulletin) has been altered in shape, giving more frontage to the estate road and less to Dorking Road.

As Bookham residents know, the site there is wooded and some clearance of fully matured forest trees had to be made, but all evergreens and trees under 9 in. diameter are to be left in order to provide for the future. The money raised by the sale of the timber is to be used for planting young trees here and elsewhere on the estate to replace those which have to be felled on reaching maturity.

The Council has given considerable thought to the preservation of trees on this estate particularly, and they feel that it is good forestry to remove those trees which have reached or are near maturity and thus realize money on them for replanting for future generations to enjoy rather than allow them to fall into worthless decay and become a danger and expensive nuisance in a comparatively few years.

As regards building, the Council have maintained an even flow of new houses over the past year by extending the Oakenwood Estate, Bookham, and completion of the Pound Farm Estate at Fetcham, while a further small extension of the Bramley Way Estate at Ashstead has also been carried out pending the development at Bookham Grove.

Building has already been started here and the first 52 houses and bungalows are under contract, while a further 48 will be following on in a few weeks' time. The mains programme has been worked out by the authorities concerned in consultation with the Council, and preparation has been made for commencement of a further 66 houses by stages in the last 6 months of the year.

The site is undulating and in the siting of many of the houses it has not been easy to secure both good appearance and economy of construction, but in other respects the variations in levels and building lines should assist in obtaining a pleasing layout.

Once the site preparation and mains are completed, the building contractors make excellent progress and there is already evidence that the splendid progress they have made on the Council's contracts, in spite of serious difficulties in the supply of materials and labour since the war, will be equalled on the Grove Estate. The Government has already promised that the faster we build, the more houses will be allotted to us; so it is hoped that now the estate is under way a record annual number of completions will be forthcoming.

[It is with dismay that we note that at the time of writing (12th May) numbers of beautiful trees are being felled daily. Are such drastic measures really necessary? —Ed.]

SURREY PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra had a full house for their Beethoven concert on the 9th March at the Crescent Cinema, Leatherhead. Cyril Smith gave a brilliant rendering of the Emperor Concerto (No. 5 in E flat major). The other items were the Prometheus Overture and the Ericca Symphony (No. 3 in E flat). Kathleen Riddick conducted with her usual sensitiveness and verve, while Vera Kantrovitch's performance as leader of the orchestra was characterized by flawless technique. We look forward with eager anticipation to the Philharmonic's next concert, which will be announced in the September issue of the Bulletin.

LETTER FROM AUSTRALIA

The following extracts from a letter received by the Editor from Mr. W. S. Matthews, of 2 Bellevue Street, Fairlight, Manly, New South Wales, will be of interest to many who knew him when he was resident in Bookham.

I would like to congratulate those responsible for the production of the Bookhams Bulletin, which my people in Bookham have started sending out to me.

After nearly 3 years in Australia, were my time over here to be assessed the balance would, I feel, be in favour of my having "taken the plunge". I have been for 2 years a civilian clerk with the Royal Australian Navy, in which I have made many friends. While over here I have developed an interest in writing, music and the arts, and have written two radio scripts.

I have become engaged to an Australian girl, whom I am marrying in June. Since I met her she has become one of the principals of the National Opera of Australia.

I shall be pleased to write for the Bulletin from time to time, and especially to send information on conditions here to those who may be contemplating migration to Australia.

THEATRE CRISIS

By KENNETH TAYLOR

About 2 months ago it was announced that, in spite of increasing membership and improved attendances, the present management was to relinquish its control of the Leatherhead Theatre Club, because it had not been found economic to run the theatre at the rental required by the owner of the lease. It is a wonderful tribute to the popularity of the present theatre company that within a few days of this announcement being made it was withdrawn in response to public demand.

This was the start of our "Save the Theatre" campaign. If there is an adequate response from residents a limited company, to be called the Leatherhead Theatre Guild Ltd., will be formed and this company will own and control the lease of the theatre. The money put up for this purpose will be repaid to the subscribers over the period of the lease. In addition to the right to share in any profit which might result from the company's activities, investors will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have contributed to securing a future for professional repertory in Leatherhead for many years to come.

"Jobs for the Boys"

Boys, old and young (no age limit), can help the Bulletin by taking a share in the distribution. Volunteers are needed to cover Meadowside, the Lower Road and the Leatherhead Road. This is voluntary service, as the Bulletin is a non-profit-making publication deriving its support mainly from advertisement revenue. A copy of each issue is distributed free of charge to every house in the Bookhams. Offers of help should be made to the Business Manager, R. H. J. Kepple, Esq., Riddlesdale, Station Road.

The names and addresses of the Secretaries of all the Clubs within the Association are given in an attractive new pamphlet inviting the interest of those Bookham residents who are not already in membership.

Recent additions to the list of Clubs are the Over 60's (Secretary, Mrs. Daily, Valandor, Lower Road, Tel. 2338) and the Naturalists and Aquarists (Secretary, F. A. J. Stratford, Esq., 43 Bridge Street, Leatherhead).

Congratulations to "Obohe" the Editor of the B.C.A. Monthly News Sheet, on producing so much useful information about the Association within such small compass. The first issue appeared in March, and copies are circulated to the constituent Clubs within the parent body.

Congratulations also to the Leatherhead U.D.C., whose approach to the postal authorities resulted in the provision of a new pillar-box at the junction of Middlemead and Sole Farm Avenue, on the Oakenwood Estate, Great Bookham. The Council's action followed an appeal by B.C.A. on behalf of some of its members who occupy houses on the estate.

The Drama Group has closed for the summer recess. More male members will be required when the group resumes meetings in the autumn. Those interested should write to the Honorary Secretary, Miss Sylvia Kennard, of Brenchley, The Glade, Fetcham.

Papering the Floor

How often one hears of papering the ceiling to make it look fresh and new again, but have you ever papered the floor? Of course not—yet that is the simplest and least expensive method of renewing the time-worn Old Barn Hall, now very much in need of attention. Our tame statistician tells us that the cost of laying a new wooden floor in our village hall (£300) could be provided if waste paper sufficient to cover the present one to a depth of 3 feet were collected and sold. A lesser depth, enough for about 8 tons, would meet the deficit on running the hall this year; but so far, since January, only a little under 2 tons has come in. Nevertheless, it has produced some £20 in cash.

There must be a lot more old papers, magazines, cardboard, etc., in Bookham, especially now that winter fires are over. Take them to the Hall, or ask the Secretary to arrange collection from your house by ringing Bookham 241. Odd to think that if every recipient of this Bulletin laid 3 feet of newspapers or 1½ feet of magazines on the Barn Hall floor to-day, a new one might be ordered to-morrow!

Naturalists' and Aquarists' Group

The activities of the Group have stepped up to a lively pace, and May saw the first of the summer outings, at which members showed genuine interest in natural history pursuits, and a determination to strengthen and broaden the work of the Group.

On Saturday, 10th May, members assembled at the Guildford Road end of Eastwick Road to start a ramble across the Downs to Juniper Hall, a field centre of the Council for the Promotion o-

SPORTS NEWS

Bookham Football Club

For the fifth year in succession the first eleven has enjoyed a highly successful season, though, as in 1949-50, nothing has been actually won. They played 24 matches in the first division of the Surrey Intermediate League, winning 18 and losing 6, and finished a comfortable enough third, 5 points behind Ditton Old Boys and another 5 in front of Walton Casuals. They ceased to be interested in the Surrey Junior Cup after the third round, and in the League Challenge Cup after the second. Once more they have been a better team away than at home; their 12 home League matches yielded 18 points, and 47 goals against 34, while away they also took 18 points, with 49 goals against 20. So perhaps their run of away draws in cup competitions may be no ill-fortune after all.

The team at the end of the season looked more like that which took the field at its beginning than in any other season except that of 1949.

This year there was no doubt about Terry Cassidy's form in goal. He took his place from the start, and held it throughout the season, though in the reserves Jimmy Guy was showing a marked improvement on the form that gained him his first team place the year before. As two years ago, Terry's finest game was in a Junior Cup-tie, this time in the losing match at Godstone. Bookham were overrun for almost the whole of this game, yet lost only 1—2, and that in extra time. The first reason was Terry Cassidy, and the second "Job" Doyle. Tom Guy resigned in October; Peter Durban took over. Peter is a more than merely competent full-back, though his best place is probably wing-half; but his heart is not in defensive work, and soon he was allowed to escape to the forward line, for which he simply has not the speed any more. From Christmas to early March Sid Rollinson, a great-hearted 90-minute trier if ever there was one, more than held his own against most outside-rights, but then he was recalled to his duties as captain of the second team and again Peter Durban became a full-back. In the last match young Brian Longhurst played a creditable game.

Field Studies. As they passed along Crabtree Lane they noted the plants of the hedgerows with their special adaptation to shade condition and the changes that took place on the arable ground and the chalk. Interest was aroused at the finding of the Raman snail, the one the French eat. At Juniper Hall the party were shown the library, studio and biology laboratory, and were impressed by the enthusiasm of the students and the quality of the work.

The next day the Group had arranged for a visit to the Haslemere Museum, and this proved to be the highlight of events so far. The museum is packed with interest for naturalists and aquarists and the only regret was that time passed too swiftly. A microprojector threw on to a screen the images of living pond life and members were able to see such things as a water flea's heart beating and the stinging hairs of the nettle. A commentary was given by the Assistant Curator.

With the success of these two meetings the Group look forward with enthusiasm to the remainder of the year's very varied programme.

At the start of the season Bert Tribe, now the side's captain, and Alan Booth were the wing-halves, but illness and loss of form kept Alan out of the side from October to early April. John Kilner played well in his place until the Army called him at Christmas, and for 6 weeks "Joby" Doyle tried to prove himself a left-half. When he returned to centre-half the answer for a short time was George Quirk, then Peter Durban, and finally Alan came back to play better than ever; his best game was Bookham's last of the season. Bert Tribe himself showed, when he was not trying to make an inside-forward of himself, that he is still as skilful and tenacious as ever. The inside-forward positions were always at least capably filled by George Quirk and Don Durban. The former had some brilliant moments, and had generally a far better season than last year, and the latter played incomparably better than at any time since beginning his association with Bookham.

The reserves again finished in the middle of their League table. Under the wise leadership of Sid Rollinson, and, in his absence, of Jack Mackness, they have produced a happy and well-blended side which includes a remarkable number of promising youngsters. Roy Durban, Bert Holland, Brian Longhurst and Stan Hawthorne have effectively proved the untruth of the lament at the end of last season that all the best young players had already been taken for the first eleven, and that there were no more to come.
