Editorial

Six years have passed since the "Bookhams Bulletin" was first published during the days of acute unemployment. With the advent of re-armament, the construction of arterial roads and other contributory factors, the present outlook is certainly brighter in the matter of employment.

Four years ago a new Editor was appointed by the Social Service Bureau, and during this period a new policy was adopted without losing sight of the essential fact that the Bulletin's chief concern was local charitable work.

It has been the purpose of the Editor to put before the readers of this Journal informative matter, whereby not only local people but others have been kept well informed of certain Acts of Parliament that directly affect some member of the community.

Apart from these matters, Air Raid Precautions have also been prominent in these columns; and whatever matter has been placed before you, it is hoped that it has all been worth while.

It may have been noticed that over this period of years, no personal note has been allowed to creep in—a little controversy and criticism, yes—and now vacating the Editorship of the Bulletin, I wish to pay a few tributes.

To all the Traders for their advertising, the Printer for his advice and co-operation, the Chairman of the Social Service Bureau, the many Contributors, and to all who have been in any way concerned towards making this Journal a success, my very sincere thanks.

Up to the time of going to press the new Editor has not been appointed, but whoever it may be, I feel sure that the same support will be extended to him that has been given to me.

W. A. MUGGERIDGE.

Remembrance Day, 1939

There are no members of the community more in need of assistance than the incapacitated ex-service men who, as the result of their war service, have broken down in health and are not in receipt of a pension.

Since the inception of the Poppy Day Appeal, and thanks to a generous public, it is possible to give limited assistance. With increased funds at the disposal of the British Legion Poppy Day Appeal, a far greater work could be done to help these men who helped their country in its time of need. Thanks to the splendid work of the local organiser and those ladies and gentlemen responsible for the sale of poppies, a gradual increase has taken place in the Bookham Ward, and as stated in the Bulletin last year the sum of £94 was realised. It would indeed be a magnificent gesture on the part of the residents of Bookham to give a trifle more on November 11th next, in order to raise a sum of £100.

Regarding the administration of the fund, the local benevolent committee of the British Legion render assistance to all ex-service men and their dependents irrespective of membership of the British Legion or otherwise, and no expenses are incurred in its local administration. It cannot be too strongly emphasised that no genuine case is ever turned down, and records show that nothing is left undone to assist the needs of those who served in the Great War be in employment or the burial of the destitute.

British Legion Effingham & The Bookhams Branch

The following preliminary notices are given for the interest of ex-service men, and fuller information will be sent to members of the Branch.

The Annual Parade will be held at Sandhurst in September.

The Branch annual general meeting will be held in October, when it is hoped there will be a full attendance.

A short Remembrance Service will be held at the War Memorial on November 11th.

Remembrance Sunday Service. Details will be circulated to members of the Branch, and all ex-service men are invited to attend.—W.A.M.

THE BOOKHAMS BULLETIN.

Air Raid Precautions.

Since July last, various leaflets have been issued from the office of the Lord Privy Seal to every householder in the country. These leaflets are of paramount importance, and must surely be a guide in the matter of civil defence.

There may be some residents in the Bookhams who are not in possession of these leaflets, and whilst not spreading alarmist propaganda we feel that we shall be supplying a public need by giving information from time to time.

Perhaps it would be as well to summarise these leaflets. No. 1 entitled "Some things you should know if war should come" deals with Air Raid Warnings, Gas Masks, Lighting Restrictions, Fire Precautions, Evacuation, Identity Labels, Food, and Instructions to the Public in the case of emergency.

No. 2 Masking your windows. No. 3 Evacuation. No. 4 Your Food and Water in War-time. Copies of these leaflets can be obtained from your local Council Offices.

Without doubt the most vital and important part of our Civil Defence scheme is the Street Warden, and in this matter your attention is drawn to the present disposition of the Wardens in the Bookhams Ward, but if in doubt, consult the Divisional Warden Mr. James Douglas, Ednam House, Gt. Bookham, Tel. Bookham 182.

The following list gives the A.R.P., with its personnel:—

Post 1, "Woverley," Birnams Road, Little Bookham. Tel. Bookham 502.
Head Warden, C. V. Brayne.
Deputy Head Warden, W. Mayne.
Wardens—J. Wynne, J. W. Elstow, J. Watson, A. Sharp.

Post 2, "Flushing Farm," Great Bookham. Tel. Bookham 320.
Head Warden, D. G. Cook.
Deputy Wardens, P. G. Jesse, W. O. Groom.
Wardens—J. C. Pollen, F. W. Smee, R. J. Fitzgerald, A. G. Street, E. Wright, B. Andrews, A. Poulter, W. Weller.
Auxiliary Post for No. 2 District manned by the above Wardens, "Little Orchard," Childs Hall Road, Great Bookham.
Note. This is the residence of B. Andrews, Tel. Bookham 138.

Post 3, "Selhurst," Eastwick Drive, Great Bookham. Tel. Bookham 383.
Head Warden, W. H. Greatwood.
Deputy Warden, H. Bostock.
Wardens—W. Riley, A. Elliott, E. C. Snaith, F. G. Jenkins, C. G. Sykes, E. C. Wilkins, S. A. Holyfield, W. J. Baker, F. C. Bellows, W. J. Jay.

Post 4, "Victon," Keswick Rd., Great Bookham. Tel. Bookham 62.
Head Warden, S. W. Black.
Deputy Warden, T. E. Etlinger.
Wardens—W. J. Shotter, F. Cooper, J. Hester, W. J. Over, C. D. Barnard, E. House, A. C. Payne.

Post 5, Walker Smith's High St., Gt. Bookham. Tel. Bookham 6.
Head Warden, T. S. Moores.
Deputy Wardens, C. Elton, G. N. Westby.
Wardens—C. T. Burbury, G. H. Hilton, C. Marshall.

Post 6, "Ruthven," Grove Side, Gt. Bookham. Tel. Bookham 2686.
Head Warden, H. F. Gibbs.
Deputy Warden, S. Hassan.
Wardens—F. C. King, S. H. Fuller, E. S. Danvers, Mrs. Evans.

Post 7, "Redlands," Crabtree La., Gt. Bookham. Tel. Bookham 2688.
Head Warden, S. T. Cheesman.
Deputy Warden, H. W. Dean.
Wardens—R. Vincent, Hampshire, P. Tilley, R. S. White, F. Lamport.

Post 8, "Malveen," Leatherhead Road, Great Bookham. Tel. Bookham 246.
Head Warden, P. M. Clack.
Deputy Warden, F. Bristow.
Wardens—G. T. Hopkins, C. J. Alexander, G. Meach, F. R. Wall, A. Hutching.

Post 9, "Lingmathang," Downs Way, Great Bookham. Tel. Bookham 376.
Head Warden, A. E. Harris.
Warden, Mathieson.

Beyond the above list there is still required the following to make Civil Defence measures effective, not only in the Bookham Ward but the whole area covered by the Leatherhead Urban District: A.R.P. Wardens, A.F.S., Stretcher Bearers, Rescue Parties, Decontamination, Report Centre and Messengers.

For War Pensioners

Complaints have been received from war pensioners regarding Life Certificates No. 2D., on the grounds that this Certificate is in the form of an open post card, and thereby gives undesirable publicity to a pensioner's award.

A new Life Certificate has been in use now for nine years and the information on the post card is not available for inspection by anyone other than the pensioner who posts the form, Post Office officials, and Pensions officials.

It has however been possible to arrange with the Ministry of Pensions that any pensioner who objects to using an open post card may, if he so desires, return the post card to the Ministry of Pensions in a sealed envelope, postage free.

Re-enlisted Service Pensioners. The War Office has advised that Service Pensioners, re-enlisting on a special attestation for the period of a National Emergency, or rendering mobilised or embodied service on a non-regular attestation during such an emergency, receive their pensions during this further service, which does not count for increase of pension.

A Service Pensioner re-enlisting on a normal engagement in the Regular Army would cease to draw his pension (except pensions for distinguished conduct) but would be eligible to receive revised pension award admissible to his case on his final discharge.

National Health Insurance Fund—War Pensioners. Special provision was made in the National Health Insurance Act of 1936 whereby war pensioners whose insurance under the National Health Insurance Fund has lapsed may be entitled to free medical benefit. The prescribed conditions for the grant of such medical benefit which is given by the Navy, Army and Air Force Insurance Fund, are:—

1. The man must have been discharged from His Majesty's Forces during the period of the late War, that is between 4th August, 1914 and 31st August, 1921
2. He must be in receipt of a War Disablement Pension.
3. His total income from all sources must not exceed £160 a year. Medical benefit consists of free Doctor and medicine only, and does not include any cash payments during illness.

All applications for medical benefits under these special arrangements should be addressed to the Local Insurance Committee, the address of which can be obtained from any Post Office, or the Hon. Sec. local Branch of British Legion.

Women's Voluntary Service.

The Women's Voluntary Service for Civil Defence is making detailed arrangements in connection with the reception of the official refugees who may be expected in Great and Little Bookham. They will come from the Leatherhead Central Schools by bus to the schools at Townshott, Great Bookham, where the work of finding them suitable billets will be carried out under the direction of Mr. H. Bostock (Billeting Officer) and Mrs. Bowen, W.V.S. Key Women, with a staff of assistants recruited from those who have not undertaken any other form of A.R.P. work.

It is anticipated that a canteen primarily for the service of a mid-day meal to the children coming to the villages, will be established at the Old Barn Hall, with Mrs. S. Madge as canteen organiser.

Women who are unable to undertake more active work are invited to enrol with W.V.S. for the making of hospital supplies, for which depots will be established at convenient centres in the district.

Volunteers are urgently required for clerical and canteen work and more helpers are required for assisting to organise play centres and out door games. Full details may be obtained from Miss R. Levy, W.V.S. Centre Leader, at A.R.P. Hut, Leatherhead. Telephone 2266, or from Mrs. Bowen, Sunnycot, Lower Road, Great Bookham, Telephone Bookham 542.

Bowling Club Ladies' Successes.

Two of the members of the ladies' section of the Bowling Club have this season shone in the County Women's Competitions. Mrs. Saunders won the Selley Cup, which comes to Bookham for the first time, and the winner of such a trophy can well consider herself a champion at the game, and Mrs. Williams won the County Secretaries' Competition. Both Mrs. Williams and her mother Mrs. Barford are County players and we trust that Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. Rose who have both played once for the county will soon attain full county honours. It speaks well for the ability of the club that from such a small membership four of them should have succeeded thus far.

Fetcham's Story

(concluded.)

Fetcham Church was built in the 12th century but many alterations have taken place. The tower was altered and rebuilt in the 17th and 18th centuries. In 1877 the South Aisle was pulled down and rebuilt. In 1877 the Chancel was restored, a reredos erected and a vestry built by the Rev. G. Moon in memory of his father the late Sir F. Moon, Bart. In the tower are three bells, the treble bearing the inscription "William Eldridge made mee 1665," the second "Robertus Mott me jecit 1588," the third is by William Land 1613. The registers commenced in 1559. In the Burial Register dated February 28th, 1697 are particulars of an unknown wanderer found dead from exposure on Fetcham Downs. Local legend has identified this man as being the Judge Jeffry's butler who informed the law officers where his master might be found at Leatherhead. This traitor hoped to receive the reward of £1000 on his master's head. At the time of the Parliamentary wars, the Rev. Thomas Turner, a loyalist, was seized in Fetcham Church at Evensong by troopers, being charged with having sent £120 to the King. His surplice, with orange sash, was ripped off and worn by a trooper. They strapped him on to a spare horse and in this manner carried him to the White Lion Prison, Southwark. Twenty years passed before he became free again. In that period he suffered many hardships and was robbed of the whole of his possessions.

In the old vestry book minutes of Leatherhead Town are several items in which Fetcham is mentioned:—

"March 4th, 1721. An assessment to be made at 2d. in the pound for to discharge the House of Corrections and maimed soldiers."

"December 15th, 1723. Whereas Mary Puckneld hath a swelling in her legg it is ordered Mr. Geo. Aitkenhead should care of it, and the parish will satisfy him."

(Mr. G. A. was an apothecary at Leatherhead).

"April 12th, 1751. Ordered that no poor be relieved without having the badge on."

"April 19th, 1754. Agreed that John Matthew do take Mary Boughton for two whole years as a servant, gratis, and to find her in all necessaries during the said time in health and sickness and to leave her in good repair."

"April 2nd, 1795. The Parishes of Leatherhead and Fetcham were to provide two men to serve in His Majesty's Navy. John Ragg and Daniel Windsor volunteered and were paid six guineas each."

"March 24th, 1805. A rate of 4½d in the pound was to be raised to meet the penalty of £44 7 8 assessed on the Parish for having failed to raise the men for the permanent and additional force of the Realm."

Connected with Fetcham Park are tales of money and treasure supposed to have been hidden by one of the Hankey family, also of underground passages, leading out of the Park.

In our time all roads surrounding it have been deeply trenched for main drainage, but so far no trace of the treasure has been found. Fetcham may well feel proud of its fine Village Hall. This delightful old barn was built in 1750, by the Howard family, then in possession of the Eastwick Manor. Built entirely by the manorial workmen, its fine oak beams chopped out with the adze by those old craftsmen from timber grown on the estate.

Fetcham's story ends and we leave its old houses full of romance and the memories of many generations who lived, loved and enjoyed their lives to the full in the light of their times as they knew them, fearing God and honouring the King, a kindly, sturdy, yeoman race, the soul and backbone of old England.—ANON.

Bowls for Women.

Bowls for women is rapidly increasing in popularity all over the country, and I feel sure that there are many women in Bookham to whom the game would appeal, and I should be only too pleased to supply all particulars and give any assistance to anyone wishing to learn the game.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the men of our club for the interest they have taken in our successes. From the day that the women's section of the club was formed, we have been included in their practice games and accorded equal use of the green and not one or two rinks as is the case in so many clubs. I feel that our "upbringing" has had much to do with the success achieved by members of our Ladies Section.

IDA I. WILLIAMS, Hon. Sec.

The Bookhams Need.

This village is similar in many respects to others in Surrey, inasmuch that it has its Football, Cricket, Bowls and other Sports Clubs, but unlike others there is no connecting link, each club operating separately, which is sometimes a disadvantage. In many country villages one finds a general Sports Club housed in a comfortable building, with its own particular section for the various games. Many industrial firms also similarly provide for their employees' recreation.

It is not only for players of outdoor games that such accommodation is needed, as Badminton, Table Tennis, and other indoor games could be played during the winter months. Beyond this it is a recognised fact that many residents in Bookham possess good dramatic talent which could be used to brighten the social life of the village. (When referring to "Bookham," Little Bookham is also included, and the Bowling Club realised this before styling themselves "The Bookhams.")

The government has urged its "Keep Fit" Campaign, and what could be more desirable than that the various sections of sport in Bookham should get together and endeavour to secure central accommodation where they could meet and obtain beneficial exercise by indulging in the particular games that they play.

Of course the big question is finance; but surely there must be many of the residents of Bookham who figure on the sports clubs' fixture programmes as Vice-Presidents who would be only too willing to assist in this way.

Two Useful Hints.

In cases of indigestion, relief has been experienced by taking this mixture: Upon two ounces of camomile flowers pour some boiling water, and let it stand till cold; then strain, and add a little bicarbonate of soda. One teaspoonful to be taken three times a day.

In making paste for household use it is a good plan to add a teaspoonful of powdered alum to the mixture of boiled flour and water. The paste keeps twice as long and is more than twice as strong as when made without the alum.

Let's see what's on!
