EDITORIAL

This issue marks the end of the first two years' management of the Bulletin by the Bookham Community Association. It is satisfactory to record that, with the continued support of our good friends the advertisers, and some help in the shape of donations from appreciative readers, we are continuing to pay our way. Whether the service the Bulletin has tried to give has been valued by readers generally must remain a matter for conjecture, as it would seem that they are reluctant to express their views, except perhaps "off the record". It is a healthy sign that there is now no shortage of material being submitted for publication. We are, however, still weak on the distribution side; if five or six additional volunteers would come forward their help would greatly ease the load on Mr. Kepple and his small band of road stewards.

On page 9 we publish an appreciation of the late Lord Walkden, a Bookham resident who will be remembered no less for his kindly nature and broad and active sympathies for the underdog than for the qualities of statesmanship by which he was conspicuous in both Houses of Parliament.

Another link with Bookham's past is being severed by the developments now in progress at

The Grove. Our sorrow at the passing of old landmarks is here offset by the satisfaction of knowing that some 300 families, now living in cramped and difficult quarters, are to be rehoused in surroundings more conducive to a healthy way of life. B.C.A. is presented with a great opportunity of assisting these families to become part of our village community.

By the time these notes appear in print the Festival performances of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at Polesden Lacey will have receded into a background of pleasant recollections, to be revived, equally pleasantly, by the account of the event in this issue of the Bulletin. Apart from scoring an artistic triumph, the Association has added substantially to its funds from the proceeds of the show.

Mention of Polesden brings to mind the impending departure of the Curator, Mr. Robin Romilly Fedden, whose new duties under the National Trust call for residence in London. Well known as art critic and writer, not least for his recently published work "Crusade Castles", Mr. Fedden cherishes a deep concern for the welfare of the ordinary citizen. The young people of the district will remember him especially for his exertions in securing the tennis court at Polesden for their use.

BOOKHAM GROVE HOUSING ESTATE

[This account of Bookham's new housing estate is contributed by Mr. John L. Davies (Engineer and Surveyor to the Leatherhead U.D.C.) for exclusive publication in the Bulletin.]

The total area of the estate is about 40 acres, much of it being wooded. The old house has been converted into 12 flats, and it is intended that the existing garden and the drives around it shall be preserved, including the belt of trees along the Guildford Road. In addition, a wooded section on the Dorking Road frontage will be reserved for a public garden as an extension of the existing recreation ground, and there will be space for tennis courts if required.

The process of clearing up the surroundings to the old house has been delayed pending the development of the estate as a whole, but a new access is now planned entering from the dip in the Guildford Road; and a new road running parallel to the latter road will serve the estate. This road will terminate by the large stable building just short of the Guildford Road and will be linked up with the latter only when the proposed short bypass from the Victoria Corner to Fairfield Cottages is completed.

This new access will dispense with the existing carriage entrance on the corner, which will be closed, and only a pedestrian access will be permitted through the trees in front of the old house. This belt of trees will be tidied up, old and dead wood removed and a very few trees and shrubs cleared to open up the view from the Guildford Road to the house. There will also be two other road accesses on to the Dorking Road which will be linked with the rest of the estate by the interior road system.

The remainder of the estate is being laid out with roads and sewers to serve approximately 303 houses. Due regard has been given to the preservation of the trees; these have all been surveyed and the layout planned to group houses around them, form small open spaces to accommodate them or allow them to form part of the boundary lines. Only dead or badly disfigured trees will be removed, except where the Guildford Road access has to be cleared for traffic sight lines.

The roads will all be slightly curving with the contours of the land, and houses will be set back at varying distances from the road. No houses will face the Guildford Road.

Sewers have been laid in positions and at levels to enable extensions to be easily made to drain the Dowlans Road area when this becomes necessary.

The houses themselves will be to 12 or more different designs, each varied also in detail and colouring, and will provide for old people's bungalows, 2-bedroom bungalows, 2-bedroom cottages and 3-bedroom houses. One new type of 3-bedroom house will have two single and one double bedroom for families of four with children of opposite sex.

Concreting of the roads is about to begin and it is anticipated that the first houses will be started in September, 1951, and the whole estate completed by the end of 1953 at the latest.

A site is being earmarked for a very small group of shops near the old house, fronting on to the wooded space, which is to remain open.

The accompanying sketch plan shows the general layout of the roads, groups of trees and small open spaces, together with the land reserved for gardens. Owing to shortage of space it has not been possible to indicate the positions of the houses.

THE LATE LORD WALKDEN

A Bookham resident of some 20 years' standing, Lord Walkden died on the 25th April, 1951, at the age of 77. In his earlier years he had been active in the trade union movement, both as general secretary of the Railway Clerks' Association and, from 1921 onwards, on the General Council of the T.U.C. He was Labour M.P. for South Bristol for many years, and was made a baron in 1945. From then until his retirement in 1949 Lord Walkden was captain of the King's Bodyguard of Yeomen of the Guard.

The following note is contributed by one who knew him well.

An Appreciation

"A.G." died this spring and his ashes were laid away in his beloved Bookham on a day that contained the promise of all those delights of the countryside that so rejoiced his heart. He was a countryman by birth and upbringing, and sought in the surroundings of the village the respite he needed from the wear and tear inseparable from public duty; and in the upkeep of his large garden he found an outlet for his great energies (I well remember him teaching me to use the scythe). Despite his preoccupation with national affairs he found time for many local activities and was always ready to assist in personal problems with his wise counsel: years of experience in politics had given him a practical approach but never concealed the idealist, never obscured his love of what was natural, or his championship of the poor and oppressed.

I never knew his wife (she died shortly before the World War II), but it was obvious he greatly missed her; it was good that he was spared (as we were not) the grief of the untimely death of his eldest daughter Dorothy, who had cared for him for so many years and who passed from this scene but a fortnight after him.

Until a year or so ago he was a regular traveller to London from Bookham Station, and paused each morning at the top of the footbridge to appraise afresh the quiet beauty of the Common—in spirit he will be there still.

BOOKHAM COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION NEWS

Old Time Dance Club

After a highly successful season the Club has closed for the holiday season.

The reopening date is Wednesday, 5th September, when the Instruction Class will meet at the Church House at 7.30 p.m.

Saturday, 15th September, is the date of the Club's Grand Festival Dance, opening at 8 p.m. at the Church House, when members old and new will be welcomed. Tickets and other information may be obtained from the Honorary Secretary, Mrs. E. K. Burberry, at 1 Pretoria Cottages, Lower Road, Great Bookham.

Over 60's Club

The Club has now become an accepted part of village life. Formed some 6 months ago at a party given to the older people of the village by the Community Association, the Club is now conducted by a joint committee drawn from the members themselves and the Women's Committee of the Association. Meetings are held at the Barn Hall on Tuesday afternoons; a darts competition, whist drives, entertainments, games of all kinds, tea and a social half hour are much enjoyed by members. A hearty welcome is extended to all the over 60's—the "Darbys" as well as the "Joans".

Over 20's Club

The Over 20's Club has not been operating during the summer months, but weekly meetings will be resumed in the autumn on a date to be fixed later. Registered members will be notified by post of the date of the opening meeting, and prospective members should watch the Calendar of Events displayed in the Barn Hall.

It is proposed to hold a Whist Drive in September to start the season.

Naturalists' Group

Since the Group was formed in May it has held a ramble, kindly led by Mrs. N. E. Waterfield, and this was followed by a discussion on the "finds". A programme of winter lectures at the Barn Hall has been drawn up, as follows:—

3rd October, 8 p.m. "In Britain by Woodland, Stream and Sea Shore." Mr. G. A. Carter, B.Sc.

31st October, 7.30 p.m. "Fungi." Miss Gascoigne.

28th November, 8 p.m. "Birds." Brigadier J. V. Faviell, C.B.E., M.C.

The programme for the remainder of the winter will be announced in the December Bulletin. Inquiries should be directed to the Honorary Secretary of the Community Association.

"A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM"

Performance at Polesden Lacey

A perfect summer's day brought close on 3,500 people to Polesden Lacey for "A Midsummer Night's Dream" on Saturday, 30th June. The Community Association's enterprise in constructing an open-air stage, available for all time, was warmly acknowledged by Mrs. Ruth Dalton, in receiving the stage on behalf of the National Trust.

Miss Kathleen Riddick (conductor) and the Surrey Philharmonic Orchestra, gave a light and delicate rendering of Mendelssohn's music which fitted the mood of the moment, with birds singing in the trees nearby and butterflies flitting across the auditorium. The Leatherhead Amateur Dramatic Company, under Mrs. P. Newman's direction, gave full scope to the humour of the mechanics' scenes and yet excelled in the poetic interpretation of the fairy episodes.

It cannot too often be emphasized that the principle on which the Community Association is based is the bringing-together of groups and individuals for a common purpose. This proved especially true of the "Midsummer Night's Dream" performance, to which so many local groups and individuals contributed, and Miss Daphne Prutton is to be congratulated on the skill with which, in so short a time, she blended all the groups of girls who took part in the fairy ballet. The songs were sung by a small choir composed of members of the Leatherhead Amateur Dramatic and Operatic Society under the direction of Mr. B. Hooker. Armour and headdresses were made in the Bookham Puppet Guild's workshop by the kindness of Mrs. M. Boardman. Finally, the amplification, which added so much to the enjoyment of the audience, was under the personal control of Mr. N. N. Jones.

It would not be an exaggeration to say that thousands of people are looking forward to the next production on the Polesden Lacey stage. According to the dramatic critic of the Surrey Advertiser, "Although the newest of England's open-air theatres cannot yet compare with, for example, the superb open-air stage at Dartington Hall, in Devon, it is a good one. Natural woodland forms the backcloth to the stage, there is a sunken orchestra pit, and those who attended the performances of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" were able to see the action clearly from every part of the large auditorium."

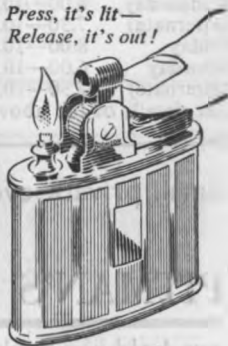

E.H.

Special note: We regret a printing error in Cameron's (High Street) advertisement. "Creamier Ice Cream" should have been "Cremier Ice Cream".

MID SURREY FILM SOCIETY

A new society has been formed to be known as the Mid Surrey Film Society. The constitution states that the objects of the Society are to enable its members to view films of cultural, artistic and technical merit not normally shown at local cinemas.

The President of the Society is stage and screen star Alec Guinness, who will be remembered for outstanding performances as Fagin in "Oliver Twist" and the much-lauded characterisation of Disraeli in "The Mudlark".

The subscription, which entitles members to attend the four meetings of the Society, is 10/6.

POLESDEN LACEY

Mr. Romilly Fedden, Curator of Polesden Lacey, has become Secretary of the National Trust's Historic Buildings Committee, and is shortly going to live in London. He assures us, however, that his departure will not interrupt the friendly relations between the Trust and the Community Association, which have, amongst other things, borne happy fruit in the open-air performances at Polesden Lacey. Not only is Mr. Fedden to be succeeded in September at Polesden Lacey by Mr. Ivan Hills, the Trust's Area Agent, but it is the National Trust's intention to transfer their Area office to Polesden Lacey. It is satisfactory to know that the National Trust's links with the community are therefore likely to remain extremely close.

Recital by New London Quartet

The summer recital arranged by the London Symphony Orchestra Club was held this year on Sunday, 24th June, at 7 p.m., in the Music Room at Polesden Lacey, the evening being too chilly for the usual al fresco performance as in previous years.

The New London Quartet—Erich Gruenberg (violin), Lionel Bentley (violin), Keith Cummings (viola), and Douglas Cameron ('cello)—played three compositions by Mozart, Debussy and Schubert.

Their handling of the Debussy Quartet for Strings, which has been accurately described as "music of the nerves", was a superb performance, in which the audience were conducted through a "mosaic" of sensations each seemingly more delightful than the last.

This was followed by the more sombre quartet in D minor of Schubert, through which runs as its central theme the serenely beautiful melody from the "Death and the Maiden".

Enjoying again in retrospect this rare musical experience, one's only regret is that so few from Bookham were there to share it.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I shall be glad if you will find room in your next issue for a note to the effect that the Choral Society will reassemble on Tuesday, 18th September, at 8 p.m. at the Congregational Church Hall. The Society is glad to welcome all who are interested in choral music, but especially sopranos; and, in particular, would urge the younger folk to come forward and discover, if they do not already know it, the satisfaction and pleasure derived from singing together.

May I take the opportunity of giving my warmest congratulations to all those farseeing and hard-working people in the Community Association whose enthusiasm and vision were largely responsible for the magnificent success at Polesden Lacey on Saturday, 30th June.

Honorary Secretary,

SURREY PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

Under its conductor, Kathleen Riddick, the orchestra will give a concert at the Royal Festival Hall, London, on Monday, 29th October, at 8 p.m. The soloist will be the distinguished pianist Eileen Joyce, who will play the concerto in A minor by Bach and the Schumann concerto in A minor. The programme will also include the first performance of "Introduction and Allegro for full orchestra" by Dr. Gordon Jacob and Symphony No. 2 in D major by Brahms.

Non-playing members of the Surrey Philharmonic Orchestral Society (annual subscription 5/-) will be entitled to priority booking. Details of membership can be obtained from the Honorary Secretary, Mr. G. Bixley, 1 Fountain Cottages, Ashted, Surrey.

SPORTS NEWS

Bookham Football Club

The first eleven is still in the First Division of the Surrey Intermediate League and it has entered also for the Intermediate League Challenge Cup and the Surrey Junior Cup; it opens its League programme on the 15th September with a home match against West Byfleet Reserves. The second team will again play in the Dorking and District League, but it has unfortunately proved necessary to withdraw the Juniors from the Epsom and Ewell Youth League. It is hoped to be able to arrange a number of friendly matches for this team during the season. Almost all last year's players are rejoining the club, and a number of new ones are understood to be signing. The Honorary Secretary, Mr. D. A. Durban, of 12 Station Road, Little Bookham, will be glad to hear from any player who would like to join this season.

Bookham Cricket Club

The Club has had a happy season, and so far (to the 6th August) a quite reasonably successful one. Thirty matches have been played to date, of which 15 have been won, 11 lost, and 3 drawn. One game, that with North Cheam at home on the 8th July, resulted in a tie, each side scoring 81 runs. The sensation of the season was undoubtedly the game on the 2nd June against the Electrical Trades' Commercial Travellers' Association, when Bookham's opponents were dismissed in 57 balls for one leg-bye, and the match was won with four byes off the first ball bowled in the Bookham innings. The leading cricket statisticians of the country have been unable to offer a parallel to such a happening.

That irrepressible character Ted Ayres is once more the Club's most successful batsman, but this time he is being closely pursued by an extremely efficient and steadily consistent Rex Lovegrove. To date Ted has scored 348 runs (average 17.40) and Rex 232 runs (average 16.64). Bert Saunders, Ken Bleach and Dick Butler have also been in fine form, and a tremendous improvement has been shown by Dave Chandler, Len Saunders and, more recently, Ian Watson. Bert Saunders heads the bowling averages, while Sid Rollinson (57 wickets) and Jack Fowler (55) lie only just behind, and Ted Ayres has put in more work in terms of overs bowled than any other bowler for a reward of 54 wickets. The fielding, while not quite reaching the high standards of recent years, has had its brilliant days, and the wicket-keeping has usually been safe in the hands of either Dave Chandler, Les Bowdler or Ken Bleach.
